JAC against killing of School teachers warns serious consequences if the accused is granted bail

IT News
Imphal, Dec 3: Joint Action Committee formed against the brutal killing of School Head teacher, Md. Hashim Ali @ Babu today warns serious consequences if the accused presently detained in police custody is released on bail before unfolding the truth behind the killing. The JAC also questions the reason for not arresting the culprits involved in the killing even after identity has been informed to the police. It said the JAC suspended the agitation and accepted the dead body of the school head master after the SDPO and SP of Imphal East had assured for speedy investigation to the case. Speaking to reporters today at Taj Hotel, Hatta Golapri, convenor of the JAC Md. Rajuddin said that both the SP and SDPO had stated that the accused Md. Amu had revealed about the involvement of his family members in the gruesome murder of the school head master. He said if the police delay the investigation then the JAC will have no option but to demand for handing over of the case to an independent investigating agency. Regarding the clarification made by the family of the accused, the JAC said that they had already informed the family of the accused to go along with them to the police station within three days time from November 28 but the family members did not turn up which means they cannot be escaped from the crime they had committed. The JAC further appealed the judge of the law court where the accused was supposed to produce not to grant bail if in case the accused applied, until the truth is unfolded.

Justice TS Thakur sworn in as the 43rd Chief Justice of India

Agency/New Delhi, Dec. 3: As a Supreme Court judge, Justice Thakur headed the bench which had delivered the verdict to reform cricket controlling body BCCI in the wake of allegations of betting and spot-fixing scandal in the Indian Premier League. Justice Tirath Singh Thakur was sworn in as the 43rd Chief Justice of India by Indian President Pranab Mukherjee at an elegant function in Rashtrapati Bhavan. Justice Thakur (63) who was the senior-most judge of the apex court took over from incumbent Justice H.L. Dattu who retired on Wednesday. As a Supreme Court judge, he headed the bench which had delivered the verdict to reform cricket controlling body BCCI in the wake of allegations of betting and spot-fixing scandal in the Indian Premier League. Justice Thakur also headed the bench which ordered probe into the multi-crore chit fund scam in eastern India, also known as Saradha scam. He has also heard the multi-crore rupee NRHM scam, in which ex-UP minister Babu Singh Kushwaha is also an accused, besides other politicians and bureaucrats. Born on January 4, 1952, he would have the tenure as CJI for a little over one year and would retire on January 4, 2017. Son of former Deputy Chief Minister of Jammu and Kashmir Devi Das Thakur, a well known jurist and judge of the Jammu and Kashmir High Court, Justice Thakur enrolled as a Pleader in October, 1972 and joined the Chamber of his father. He was designated as a senior advocate in 1990. On February 16, 1994, he was appointed as an additional judge of the Jammu and Kashmir High Court and transferred as a judge of the Karnataka High Court in March 1994. He was appointed as a permanent judge in September 1995 and transferred to the Delhi High Court in July 2004. Justice Thakur was appointed as acting Chief Justice of the Delhi High Court on April 9, 2008 and on August 11, 2008, he took over as Chief Justice of the Punjab and Haryana High Court. He was elevated as a judge of the Supreme Court and assumed charge on November 17, 2009.

Home Guards threaten agitations

IT News
Imphal, Dec 3: Manipur Home Guard Employees Welfare Association today held a Press Meet at Khuyathong Durga Mandop to highlight their long standing grievances which the state government has so far failed to address. According to the office bearers, despite repeated requests and representations along with Memorandums, the genuine concerns of the 2196 home guard personnel in the state have fallen on deaf ears. Citing the growing problems, both financially and otherwise being faced by the personnel, an office bearer states that the home guard personnel are being utilized in various tasks relating to maintenance of law and order similar to that of a police personnel. Moreover, the Home Guard Organisation was constituted as a paramilitary reserved force. Under the circumstances, the personnel, through the Association have repeatedly requested the state government to raise their duty allowance equal to that of the minimum pay of the state police personnel as per a Supreme Court ruling on the matter on March 11, 2015. The Association resolved to carry out various forms of protests and agitations if the demand for the raise in allowance and other benefits are not met by the 6th of December 2015 which is also the 52nd Raising Day of the Home Guard Organisation of Manipur.

269 Dead in Tamil Nadu. Chennai declared disaster zone, airport to remain shut till December 6

Agency
Chennai, Dec. 3: Chennai is under water now. Residents and officials admitted that almost everyone in Chennai, a sprawling city with over 4.6 million people, had been affected one way or the other by the devastating floods caused by torrential rains. Incessant downpour in the city and other coastal regions of Tamil Nadu have broken records of last 100 years. The seriousness of the situation in Chennai can be gauged from the fact that personnel from all three defence services have been pressed into relief and rescue work. The city's IT hub has also been hit hard. Offices of companies like Infosys, Tata Consultancy Services (TCS) and others have been flooded leaving dozens of employees stranded. Flights to and out of Chennai have been cancelled and the airport is shut till December 6. No flights have taken off from or landed in Chennai since 8:30 pm on Tuesday. Nearly 700 people are stranded at the airport and efforts are underway to evacuate them. Over 50 trains have either been cancelled or diverted due to flooding of rail tracks at several places. Meanwhile, the Prime Minister is set to Survey Flooded Chennai. "Leaving for Chennai to take stock of the situation arising due to the devastating floods," the PM tweeted today even as MeT's forecast indicates more rain for the next 48 hours. Chief Minister Jayalalitha will review the situation today.

Community Policing in Manipur

This paper was presented by: Dr S. Ibocha Singh, IPS, Dy. Inspector General of Police (Range-II), Manipur in the 3- Day International Seminar on MOVEMENTS IN RECENT PAST AND PRESENT NORTHEAST INDIA WITH SPECIAL REFERENCE TO MANIPUR held at Manipur University organised by Centre for Manipur Studies MU

Policing in Manipur now: There was no systematic policing in Manipur before a standardized policing system was introduced in the state by British way back in 1894. The existence of a systematic policing came into existence with the opening of Imphal Police station and appointment of Shri Arambam Ramlal Singh (Meino) as the first Sub-Inspector of Police in January, 1894. This is the first step to the emergence of a standardized police force in the state by doing away with the system of military duty of the people called Lallup which was abolished by the then political agent Mr. Maxwell - on 29/04/1892. From the establishment of the first police station at Imphal, Manipur Police reached by leaps and bounds to the present stage of having a total strength of 32918 (inclusive of civil police, MR and other units) from a

Department headed by a Sub-Inspector to a Director General of Police now. Community Policing: Before going ahead to the topic Community Policing in Manipur, let us know what Community Policing is first, so as to enable us to know where we stand now in terms of policing system prevalent in the state and also to know at what stage of policing the developed countries of the world are standing. Community Policing: Defined

Community policing is the way of policing in which community renders their share and contribute ideas in the maintenance of law and order bringing orderly in the society by assisting the police in their efforts. Community policing is not a self contained programme but a method of policing where the community is treated not as a passive customer but as an active partner in preventing crime and disorder and promotions of security with the total involvement of the community or the local neighbourhood in the police in identifying and resolving issues that give rise to crime and disorder. The effectiveness of this type of policing is measured by the degree of public co-operation received and the absence of crime and disorder in the society. In the traditional system of policing, the success of police is measured in terms of arrest made during the period of time and on conviction, but in community policing the success of policing is determined by the extent of co-operation received from people and the amount of success achieved in the maintenance of law and order.
