Nagaland CSOs divided over bandh, shutdown affects in 5 districts only

(With input from Agency)

Imphal, Feb 1: Total shut down in Nagaland called Core Committee of Naga Tribal Hohos and Civil Organisations (CCNTHCO) affected normalcy at Dimapur, Mokokchung, Peren, Tseminyu and Zunheboto while the rest remain unaffected, agency report said.

The 12 hours bandh was called in the entire state by some Nagaland civil society bodies demanding postponement of the state assembly election as solution to the vex Naga issue is considered more important. NSCN-IM the rebel group which had signed Frame work agreement with the government of India also warned political parties from taking part in the Nagaland election before settling the Naga issue.

In the five districts where the total shut down has been forced normal traffic has been severely affected as both commercial and private vehicles stay off the road besides shutting down of all business establishment and educational institutions. Government offices were reported to be defunct in the five districts however essential services had been kept out of the purview of the bandh.

Several apex bodies of the State that had formed a solidarity network for 'solution before election' under the CCNTHCO, backed out from enforcement of total shutdown.

The Angami Public Organization (APO), the Chakhesang Public Organization (CPO), Eastern Naga People's Organization (ENPO) and Lotha Hoho on Wednesday announced they were against the bandh in larger interest of the people.

However, these organizations said they are in favour of an early solution to the vexed Naga issue.

The APO also decided 'not to persuade nor dissuade any individual from filing nomination' and 'will not boycott the ensuing Assembly election'.

This was stated in a press statement issued by APO president, Dr Kepelhouse Terhija, and general secretary, Neisakholie Ziephru, that was circulated in the social media.

"No bandh shall be allowed within the Angami inhabited areas on February 1," the statement read, adding, "This clarion call is made for and in the larger interest of the Nagas in its quest for peopledom and nationhood which we are aware cannot be taken lightly."

In Kohima district, however, the Rengma Hoho is observing the bandh in Tseminyu sub-division, that began from dawn on Thursday.

The Chakhesang Public

Organization, instead, resolved to have a 'prayer day' for early solution to the Naga political problem instead of a bandh.

This was decided at an emergency general meeting held at Town Hall of Pfitsero on Wednesday.

The CPO appealed to all the citizens to 'remain at home and pray for an early solution to the Naga political'.

The ENPO also decided not to impose bandh in ENPO areas, stated a press release from its media cell.

"That does not mean the ENPO do not support the Naga solution. But the decision not to impose bandh has been decided on good faith and not to create unnecessary inconvenience to the public of ENPO areas," stated a press release.

It is learnt that the ENPO had received a letter from the Ministry of Home Affairs on Wednesday inviting ENPO for a meeting with the MHA in March later year.

Gen. Bipin Rawat's remarks on AFSPA fuel anger; Rebels' body reacted

IT News

Imphal, Feb 1: Army Chief Gen. Bipin Rawat remarks on AFSPA has fuel anger to sections of people who are committed to protection of human rights in the country. The remarked also received political criticisms from a rebel group operating in the region. Joint body of major rebel group operating in WESEA region CorCom hit tough words to the statement of the Army chief saying it as another revelation of the intention of the arm forces to directly endorse in the rampant violation of human rights in WESEA region including Manipur and Jammu & Kashmir. Recently media report had stated that the central government is looking a way out for review of the AFSPA. But the Army chief's statement was a direct reply of the army's stand to the media report.

A statement issued by CorCom media coordinator Ksh Yoiheiba yesterday said that the draconian Act (AFSPA) licences Indian military forces to kill people at their fancy and whims in the alleged occupied territories. General Rawat's statement implied that the Indian military forces have no morale and are afraid to face the revolutionary groups of these regions without AFSPA.

It said how the people of Manipur has been suppressed by the army since its merger to the Indian Union.

"Under the shadow of AFSPA, which contradicts international laws, Indian military forces have been committing genocide as well as isolated killings for the past many years", the statement said. The statement also highlighted on the recommendation of the United Nations Human Rights Committee to the Government of India time and again to repeal AFSPA. It also reminded the UN Commissioner for Human Rights N Pillay and Special Rapporteur Christof Heyns proposals for immediate repeal of the same Act as it amount to violation of Human Rights.

Amnesty International and Human Rights Watch (HRW) also categorically stated that AFSPA was an instrument of colonialism and contradicted international laws, and it must be repealed, the CorCom said.

"Even Justice Jeevan Reddy Committee constituted by the Government of India after the murder of Manorama recommended that AFSPA should be repealed but the Government of India flung aside the same recommendation because its military was not in favour of repealing the infamous Act", the statement added.

After six cases out of 1528 alleged fake encounter cases have been confirmed as genuine fake encounters by Santosh Hegde Commission and the Supreme Court has been preparing to begin trial of these cases.

It is at this juncture that General Rawat came out with a statement in support of AFSPA. Such statement only exposes the Government of India's perception of WESEA and Jammu & Kashmir.

Saying that CorCom condemns General Bipin Rawat's statement in the strongest term, it appealed to all the people to analyse how the Government of India has been determining the value of human lives in WESEA.
