GST Council asks Centre, states to quickly set up appellate authorities

Agency
New Delhi, May 21,

The GST Council has asked the Centre and states to expedite setting up of appellate authorities for aggrieved entities to appeal against orders of the Authority for Advance Rulings (AAR).

With AARs in different states started giving rulings since March, it has become imperative for the Centre as well as states to set up the Appellate Authority for Advance Ruling (AAAR), an official said.

"The Secretariat of the GST Council has shot off letters to the states as well as the Central Board of Indirect Taxes and Customs (CBIC) to nominate members to the AAAR on an urgent basis so that they can start functioning," the official told the news agency. So far only 12 states, including West Bengal, Gujarat, Madhya Pradesh, Rajasthan, Tamil Nadu and Uttar Pradesh, have issued notifications for setting up AAARs. However, these have not become operational as the members have not yet been appointed.

As per the State GST law, the appellate authority will have two members—the Chief Commissioner of Central tax as designated by CBIC and the Commissioner of State tax.

The appellate authority has been mandated to pass order within 90 days of the filing of appeal.

Under the GST (Goods and Services Tax) law, an aggrieved party can file an appeal against the order of the AAR within a period of 30 days, which may be further extended by a month. As per the law, all states are required to set up at least one AAR for seeking advance ruling over GST levy and one appellate authority to hear appeals against the AAR order.

According to experts, the business entities, which are aggrieved by the decision of AAR, currently do not have any remedy in the absence of an appellate authority. Deloitte Haskins & Sells LLP Partner (Indirect Tax) M S Mani said businesses will not be able to file appeals against advance rulings unless the appellate authority is set up in every state.

"The recent increase in AAR decisions needs to be matched by a quick constitution of the appellate authority in all states. The constitution of the AAAR should also be on the lines of the CESTAT (Customs, Excise and Service Tax Appellate Tribunal) and other appellate bodies and should not comprise only of tax officials, in order to achieve the objectives laid out for the AAAR," Mani said.

AMRG & Associates Partner Rajat Mohan said an inimitable feature of GST AAAR is that it is headed by a Chief Commissioner of Central tax and a Commissioner of State tax, such inequality in positions could imbalance the decision making authority towards the senior member.

"AAAR also faces the same impediments as AARs do, as decision-making body consists of two revenue officers only and no representation found on the bench from any officer from legal background thereby posing a severe disadvantage to taxpayers," Mohan said.

New Delhi, May 21,

The online registration for admissions to Post Graduate Diploma in Cyber Security and Law (PGDCSL), launched this year (academic year 2018-19) by Delhi University (DU) has witnessed a very 'tepid' response with only 30 applicants registering during first two days.

While registration for Postgraduate (PG) courses have already crossed 20,000 figures. The registration for PGDCSL started with the opening of the Postgraduate (PG) admission portal of DU on May 18 and will last till June 7.

Minimum eligibility criteria for applying to the course is graduation in Science (Physics & Chemistry), Information Technology, Mathematics, Engineering in Technology (Computer Science/ Electronics/ Electronics and Communication, Information Technology), BCA or MCA, M.Tech or any other degree equivalent thereto. DU official informed that minimum marks criteria has not been introduced for applying to PGDCSL so as to promote more aspirants to apply. It must be brought to notice that many professional courses ask for certain minimum percentage of marks in qualifying examinations as necessary prerequisite criteria for applying.

The Post Graduate Diploma in Cyber Security and Law (PGDCSL) is a one year course divided in two semesters and having total 51 seats which are to be filled on the basis of combined merit list made on the basis of initial merit list based on graduation marks and personal interview. Firstly, an initial merit list which shall be determined on the basis of marks obtained by the candidate in graduation or in degree applicable as qualifying examination will be made. After that the candidates shall be called for personal interview on the basis of this merit. The initial merit will have 85 percent weightage while personal interview will carry 15 percent. Thereafter a combined merit on the basis of 85 percent in initial merit and 15 percent in personal interview shall be drawn. Admission shall be based on order of combined merit. A DU official said that the 90 percent of the faculty for teaching PGDCSL would be drawn from industries, comprising of experts in the field of cyber security like those who provide cyber security cover in banks and other institutions etc.

"We will also have in-house faculty which will basically guide students towards the research in the field. As the field is an emerging one with immense potential, thorough research is also necessary and our teachers will guide students towards that," said Dr. Sunaina Kanodia, Officer on Special Duty (OSD), Institute of Cyber Security and Law, DU. She said that not more than 10 percent of the faculty would comprise of teachers from Delhi University. The total fees for the one year course would be around 64 thousand. According to the DU official the cost of the course is only about one-tenth to that in private universities and institutions. "Rs Eight to nine per annum is the estimated minimum pay package which a student is expected to be offered by the companies after the completion of this course," said Dr. Sunaina Kanodia, Associate professor, Delhi University.

The course will provide an intensive training whereby students will learn how hackers break into the systems, network, mobiles and websites so as to make them aware of possible loopholes and therefore making them proficient in reverse penetration. By doing so, students can create a virtual wall between company's data and hackers. According to recent report by Intel Security in partnership with the Centre for Strategic and International Studies (CSIS), the global cyber-security workforce will have over 1 million job vacancies by 2019. Cyber Security has emerged as a very critical sector in the current decade and this has largely been led up the rising amount of crimes world over.

A Short Film About Killing to be screened at press club

By our Correspondent
Guwahati, May 21,

Internationally acclaimed Polish film maker Krzysztof Kieślowski's extraordinary movie 'A Short Film About Killing' will be screened at Guwahati Press Club on Friday (25 May, 3pm). Carrying a strong message against the capital punishment by different countries, the feature film was released in 1988. It has cinematography by Sławomir

Idziak and music by Zbigniew Preisner.

It may be noted that no European director of recent years was admired as Kieślowski. Of course, he had to wait many years for recognition outside Poland. The hour-long movie was originally made for Polish television. Based on an emotional story, the film was instrumental in the abolition of death penalties in Poland long back.
