KYKL Chairman cautions people towards attempt for conversion to Hindutva Nation

IT News
Imphal, April 24: Greeting the people of Kangleipak including those in the WESEA region on occasion of the 23rd Foundation Day of the proscribed group Kanglei Yawol Kanna Lup (KYKL), Chairman of the outfit N Oken today cautions the people over the attempt of the mainland Indian leaders to convert the entire country into Hindutva nation. The outfit is celebrating the 23rd Foundation day on April 25. In a lengthy message sent to the people of the region, the Chairman of the armed rebel group deliberated on how the majority Hindi heartland people are putting all their efforts to engulf minority communities. "A serious issue facing by the people of the WESEA region is the crumbling of the identity of each community. Each of us are rushing to convert ourselves as Mayang as the leaders of the Hindi heartland are working hard to convert the multinational state-nation to a mono-cultural nation-state", N Oken said in his statement. He further said that some years ago we the people of the WESEA region have no fear to call ourselves as non-Indian. The Naga, the Mizo have no fear to call themselves as themselves and all the communities were closely related due to the closeness of identity. N. Oken further expressed shocked over the identity diffusion due to the slow progress of Revolutionary movement saying that the traditions and culture of each communities are slowly engulf by the Hindi heartland leaders.

The KYKL Chairman also categorically stated on how the Congress party under the leadership of the Jawaharlal Nehru had dreamt of a creating a Hindi nation. And the attempt is still considered as a main agenda of the present BJP government. N. Oken also deliberated on the concept of Hinduism stating that Hinduism is a conglomerate of various religions. He pointed out on how a Hindu demon is worship by some community as heroes. Oken deliberated in depth on how the Aryan converted religion and identities of various community by amalgamating in Hindu religion. The KYKL Chairman warns the people to be aware of such invasion to struggle together for protection of our identity.

SC dismisses PIL seeking implementation of fundamental duties

New Delhi, Apr 24: The Supreme Court today refused to entertain a PIL seeking a direction to the Centre for implementation of the recommendations of the Justice J S Verma committee to bring into force fundamental duties of citizens. "This report is of 1999. How can a court direct the government to implement fundamental duties," a bench comprising Chief Justice J S Khehar and Justice D Y Chandrachud said, while dismissing a plea filed by Ashwini Kumar Upadhyay, a lawyer and spokesperson of the Delhi chapter of the BJP. The court also took a strong note of the fact that a leader of the ruling party at the Centre filed the PIL. "You (Upadhyay) are the spokesperson of the (Delhi)

BJP. You are the government. You are so powerful that you can get this done," the bench said while dismissing the PIL. Upadhyay, in his plea, had sought implementation of the 1999 report of the Justice Verma committee on fundamental duties. The committee had suggested ways and means to make fundamental duties of citizens effective.

ANI
New Delhi, Apr 24: Rubbishing Delhi Chief Minister Arvind Kejriwal's allegation of EVM tampering during the MCD polls, the Bharatiya Janata Party (BJP) said the former is making such remarks out of the fear of failure, adding that he should introspect on his government's performance instead. "Arvind Kejriwal should not complain about EVM malfunctioning anymore and focus on his work. People talk like this when they know that they are going to face failure. I would suggest that he should introspect on his work," BJP leader Maheish Giri told ANI. Echoing the same, BJP leader R.P. Singh said that Kejriwal is making a hue and cry over the EVM because he knows that the people's mandate is not with him. "He has been making a hue and cry over machine malfunctioning for a very long time and he also got his answer from the Supreme Court and High Court and Election Commission. People's mandate is not with Kejriwal that is why he making this excuse. He will blame EVM machine tampering for his failure in every elections," Singh told ANI. As Delhi witnessed the polling for the municipal elections yesterday, Kejriwal raised concerns about the reliability of Electronic Voting Machines (EVMs). "Reports from all over Delhi of EVM malfunction, people vid voter slips not allowed to vote. What is SEC doing?" Kejriwal tweeted. Delhi voted on Sunday to elect three wings of the municipal corporation. It can be noted that it is first time in the MCD elections the None Of The Above (NOTA) option has been made available and the elections is being held after the latest delimitation exercise that restructured the civic wards. The final tally of votes came in just before Sunday midnight, as a ward in south Delhi witnessed "extremely brisk voting" late in the evening. A senior State Election Commission official said that the final vote percentage was 53.58. As many as 71,39,994 votes were polled in a contest that had the BJP, the Congress and the AAP engaged in a fierce battle.
