(September 23). India is ranked 136th among 180 countries in its RSF's World Press Freedom Index (2017), which is just ahead of its neighbors Pakistan (139th), Sri Lanka (141) and Bangladesh (146). Norway topped the list where India's neighbors including Bhutan (84), Nepal (100), Maldives (117), Afghanistan (120), Burma (131) etc are ahead of it. One party ruled North Korea (180) is at the bottom of the list, where Vietnam and China were placed at 175th and 176th positions respectively. "India as a nation loses around five journalists to assassinations irrespective of any political party regime in New Delhi or other provinces. Statistics reveal that we lost six journalists to perpetrators in 2016, which was preceded by five cases in 2015. We witnessed murders of two scribes in 2014, but the year 2013 reported as many as 11 journalists' murders," said a statement issued by the JFA.

Indian women bag silver in Archery World Championships

PTI
Mexico, Oct 22: The Indian women's compound team has bagged a silver medal after losing to Colombian rivals in the World Archery Championships. Eyeing India's first ever gold medal, Trisha Deb, Lily Chanu Paanam and Jyothi Surekha Vennam went down 228-234 to the fourth seeded Colombian team of world record holder Sara Lopez, Alejandra Usquiano and Nora Valdez in the final played yesterday. This was India's fifth medal at the World Championships and all of them have been silver. It was also the first time India won any medal in the compound team archery section at the World Championships. Colombia, who landed only six arrows out of the 10-ring, took a three-point lead, 58-55, after the first six arrows and never let go to win their second ever world archery title. Korea, represented by Song Yun Soo, So Chaewon and Choi Bomni, took bronze beating Germany 235-227.

At the World Archery Championship in Mexico City, India's Lily Chanu Paanam shocked World Number 12 player Sara Lopez. This huge upset occurred in the second round of the competition. Lopez scored just 140 points, well below her average, while Lily Chanu Paanam managed a score of 141. The Archery World Championship went ahead on schedule despite 2 devastating earthquakes that rocked the city. In the men's compound event, South Africa's Patrick Roux failed to build on an impressive qualification score yesterday. He posted his personal best international score over the 50-metres ranking round with 710 points during qualification to claim the 10th seed. However, during today's action, he was beaten by Spain's Alberto Blazquez 147-146 in round two. The only unseeded man to out-shoot Roux in the qualifiers and not receive a bye today was Netherlands' Mike Schloesser. He was eliminated by compatriot Peter Elzinga, who scored 10 to Schloesser's nine in the shoot-off following a 145-145 tie. Lopez has won numerous accolades in her career as an archer. Compared to her, Chanu Paanam has only won 3 major competitions, so Lily's feat is far more incredulous. Lily Chanu started archery in 2003 and made her international debut in 2012. Lopez said "Reo Wilde once told me, you can't win every time. The ambitions I had to win these championships were so big, they beat me. Even if I accomplished most of the goals I had this year, this one just slipped away. But it's good that it happened like this - because it gives me the chance to keep fighting for something." Including this win, Lily Chanu Paanam has a total of 16 wins and a win percentage of 46%. Lopez on the other hand has 87 wins with a win percentage of 84%. Neither player has been on the Olympic stage yet. Lily Chanu Paanam now advances into the round of 32 while Lopez is left to contemplate on her close loss. In the World Archery rankings, Lily is ranked 53rd while Lopez is seeded 12th. Lily's next opponent, Denmark's Tanja Jensen, who is ranked 9th, poses a completely different challenge for her altogether. Archery is a competition where accuracy matters, one millimeter could make all the difference in a game. As seen in the score, Lopez lost the match by a single point.
