Uttarakhand Cop Protects Muslim Boy from Angry Mob in Ramnagar

Agency
Uttarakhand, May 25,

A police inspector saved a Muslim boy from the wrath of a mob in Uttarakhand's Ramnagar, after he was allegedly found with a Hindu girl in a temple.

The couple met in a temple in Girija village, a sparsely populated region, where they were caught by a group of violent men.

In a video that has now gone viral on social media, Sub-Inspector Gagandeep Singh came to the boy's rescue, fearing the angry mob may lynch him to death. The video shows Gagandeep confronting the group of men all alone, while protecting the boy from those who were baying for his blood. Another police officer was seen trying to keep the mob at bay.

When the police officer refused to hand over the boy, the group allegedly started chanting anti-police slogans. The group shut the gate of the temple and continuously tried to beat the boy.

The protection that Gagandeep provided to the boy didn't go down well with the mob. The Lallantop, quoting witnesses, reported that the boy was sitting on the floor after being thrashed by the angry group of men, and the girl was arguing with them.

When the girl asked a man why he had beaten up the boy, the man allegedly responded: "We will chop him to pieces. You are a Hindu and roaming around with a Muslim man. I will chop you too."

An officer from Ramnagar police station confirmed to The Quint that the incident had occurred on the said day. "Two boys and a girl were sitting inside the temple. Some of the other attendees and workers at the temple raised an objection. Sub-Inspector Gagandeep Singh happened to be there. He took control of the situation and rescued the boy from the spot," the officer said.

The police also said that they had contacted the families of the boy and the girl. "We called their families and handed them over." The group had allegedly roughed up the boy and one of his friends by the time police arrived at the scene.

The group also alleged that the couple was "getting intimate," but the police didn't say anything clearly about this allegation.

MASAD Organises discussion programme on present socio-political and economic status of Manipur

IT News
New Delhi, May 24,

MASAD organized a discussion program on the present socio-political and economic status of Manipur under the topic "Identifying Colonial Settlers: A Perspective on Manipur Society through the Lens of Israeli-Palestine Conflict." The commitment to organize the said program was ignited by the ongoing Israeli genocide of Palestinians, founded upon Israeli occupation of Palestine using its military might and population transfer where the rightful claim for a free and liberated Palestine is rejected by the Zionist state leading to a systematic killing of Palestinian civilians by Israel backed by its Western allies.

In India, the Kashmiris face a similar plight under the Indian occupation. The voices of the Kashmiris for freedom from India are answered with pellets and bullets resulting in disfigurements, blinding and loss of thousands of Kashmiri lives. More than a hundred of the population have been killed and many more injured and blinded in this year's crackdown on the Kashmiri population. In the name of retaliation, the Indian state uses its military force with absolute immunity to terrorize the Kashmiris.

Under similar circumstances, the people of Manipur have been living a life of terror and uncertainty under India's occupation since 1949. Deterioration of the economy monopolized by outsiders, forced disappearances, fake encounters, rapes and murder of indigenous women and men, etc. continue to reek Manipur. There has been unchecked migration of non-Manipuris taking place in Manipur and the whole of the "Northeast" region. Many non-Manipuris are being transferred in an organized manner from various parts of India and with their number in Manipur escalating each and every single day, the fate of the people of Manipur is at stake.

In Tripura, the indigenous population has been already reduced to a minority in its own space with little representation, no economic power and no social/community agency. It is also to be mentioned that the Indian government has come up with a bill (The Citizenship (Amendment) Bill, 2016) in its parliament which will give citizenship rights to all the foreigners from Bangladesh, Afghanistan, Pakistan, etc. who have migrated to the "Northeast" till now.

Truth be told, Manipur does not see the non-locals as merely non-locals, but as colonial settlers carrying out the project of colonizing the historical, geopolitical space of Manipur. It can't be said that Manipur, in years to come, will not be converted into a "Palestine of India," a gift of Indian "democracy". MASAD, as a collective voice of the student community of Manipur, takes a solid stand to safeguard the demographic structure of Manipur or else the days are not far away when we might suffer the same fate as that of the Palestinian people.

MASAD is of the view that the non-Manipuris staying in various part of Manipur are the fruits of state-sponsored migration to Manipur, the result of a constant attempt to change the demographic structure, assimilate the indigenous identities and cultures through this settler population and various other agents, a project executed and framed by India to colonise and "nationalize" the space that is Manipur. The ruling class both from India and Manipur have joined hands to carry out this project of "nationalizing space" and MASAD takes both these groups as anti-Manipur. The recent clash at Khurai between the people of Manipur and the outsiders/settlers is nothing but a manifestation of the larger political development happening under Indian rule over Manipur since 1949, after the "takeover" of Manipur.

MASAD urges the people of Manipur to stand united and fight the common oppressor. We urge the international community to stand united and give its solidarity to the rightful claim of Manipur to restore its lost sovereignty and to those oppressed nations and communities all over the world struggling for freedom and liberty.

174 Children go missing.....

Now that the Trafficking of Persons (Prevention, Protection and Rehabilitation) Bill, 2018 is on its way, and as Govt. initiatives like TrackChild, Operation Smile and Muskaan are trying to track detailed status of missing children, one can be hopeful that the country will take robust steps in addressing the issue squarely and for good.

Puja said, "At one level we need to relentlessly work on underlying reasons for various forms of deprivation which grapples our society at large, and on the other hand we need to accelerate our efforts in varied aspects related to bringing missing children back home – inter and intra state coordination and convergence, solid rescue and rehabilitative mechanism and more importantly invest adequate resources and trained personnel at every level. We have to remember that a missing child is not just a number, it's a missing childhood, a missing experience and missing memories of a lifetime for people close to them."

*Names have been changed to protect the identity of the child and her family.
