Four arrested for assault on TV journalist in Mumbai

Agency
Mumbai, Oct 15

Four persons have been arrested for allegedly assaulting a television journalist near his house in south Mumbai, police said Monday.

The accused, all city residents aged between 20 and 25 years, were nabbed late Sunday night from Tardeo area, a senior police official said.

Herman Gomes, working with a private TV channel, was returning home along with a friend in a taxi on Sunday when he saw four to six men waiting near his house in Gamdevi area.

The men started abusing Gomes and later allegedly assaulted him and also hit his friend, as per the victim. Gomes was injured in the attack and later received six stitches near his eyes.

Deputy Commissioner of Police (zone-II) Dnyaneshwar Chavan, said prima facie it appears the incident might have taken place in the heat of the moment following some argument.

“However, we are trying to go into the depth of the matter,” he said, adding, the accused do not have any criminal background.

Based on Gomes’ complaint, the Gamdevi Police had registered a case under IPC sections 143 (unlawful assembly), 147 (rioting), 324 (voluntary causing hurt by dangerous weapons) and other relevant provisions. Journalists’ associations in the city had Sunday condemned the attack and alleged that police did not file the victim’s complaint promptly.

The Mumbai Press Club termed the attack on Gomes a “dastardly act”.

An association of crime reporters in the city have urged Chief Minister Devendra Fadnis to take action against police officers who allegedly delayed registration of the First Information Report (FIR) in the matter.

Minister of State for Home (urban), Ranjit Patil had later said an investigation was on into the incident and “correct steps will be taken in the direction”.

7 armymen, including a Major General, given life sentence by Army court for fake encounter

Guwahati, Oct. 15

An army Summary General Court Martial (SGCM) has sentenced seven army personnel, including a dismissed Major General, to life imprisonment for their alleged involvement in a fake encounter case that had taken place in Assam in 1994. However, army officials said that the judgment of life imprisonment needs to be confirmed by the competent authority, which can take a few more months.

The Summary General Court Martial (SGCM) on Saturday awarded life imprisonment to Major A K Lal, two other officers and four Junior Commissioned Officers (JCOs) and Non-Commissioned Officers (NCOs), for the fake encounter of five youths.

Lal was removed as commander of the Leh based 3 Infantry Division in September 2007, after a woman officer accused him of “misconduct” on the pretext of teaching her yoga. He was dismissed from service, but later the Armed Forces Tribunal restored his retirement dues. The other two officers were also dismissed from service.

The SGCM on the incident began on July 16 and ended on July 27. “The SGCM held at Dinjan has pronounced judgement in an encounter case of 1994 in North East. The judgement of life imprisonment needs to be confirmed by the competent authority and this may take two to three months,” said an official.

The case relates to 1994 when a manager of a tea estate was killed by ULFA militants. Army personnel from the 18 Punjab Regiment had detained nine youths belonging to Assam’s Tinsukia district over allegations that they played a role in the killing. The youths were All Assam Students’ Union (AASU) leaders. Five of them were allegedly killed by army personnel in a fake encounter, after they were branded as ULFA militants. The other four were released in a jungle, after being threatened at gunpoint.

Jagdish Bhuyan, then an AASU leader, had filed a Habeas Corpus petition in the Gauhati High court, seeking to know the details of these youths. The High Court ordered the army to produce the nine AASU leaders at the nearest police station. Later, the army produced five bodies at the Dholia Police Station. The case’s probe was later handed over to the Central Bureau of Investigation (CBI). The CBI charged seven army personnel in the case. The High Court had asked the army to conduct a court martial, which was challenged by the army in the Supreme Court. On being asked by the Supreme Court, the army started the process of holding the SGCM.

“Justice is finally delivered in the infamous Dangari encounter case where five innocent youths were killed. The verdict of the court martial yesterday once again brought to the fore the neutrality of Indian Army. It has proved that one must have faith in Indian judicial system, democracy and the discipline and neutrality of an Institution like Indian Army,” said Jagdish Bhuyan, who has been fighting the case for last 24 years.

Trump admits climate change not a ‘hoax’

Agency
Washington, Oct 15

President Donald Trump on Sunday backed off from his claim that climate change is a hoax, but said that it’s not man-made with permanent impacts and climate will “change back again”. In an interview with CBS News’ ‘60 Minutes’, Trump accused scientists of having a “very big political agenda” and asserted that he does not want to put the US, the second-largest emitter of greenhouse gasses, at a disadvantage in responding to climate change.

Asked whether he still thinks climate change is a hoax, Trump said, I think something’s happening. Something’s changing and it’ll change back again. I don’t think it’s a hoax, I think there’s probably a difference. But I don’t know that it’s manmade.” I will say this. I don’t wanna give trillions and trillions of dollars. I don’t wanna lose millions and millions of jobs. I don’t wanna be put at a disadvantage,” the US president said.

Trump, who had previously called the climate change a “hoax”, in June last year pulled the US out of the historic Paris Agreement on climate change arguing that deal agreed by more than 190 nations unfairly benefited countries like India and China and hit American economy and jobs.

When asked if he could go to Greenland, watch these huge chunks of ice just falling into the ocean, raising the sea levels, Trump said one doesn’t know whether or not that would have happened with or without man.

“I’m not denying climate change. But it could very well go back. You know, we’re talking about over a millions of years.” Trump accused scientists who say hurricanes are getting more frequent and intense because of climate change of having “a very big political agenda”.
