The Left Democratic Alliance (LDA) has called for a half-day strike on July 7 in protest against gas tariff hike. The decision was taken at the coalition meeting. Today, the leaders of the Left Democratic Alliance held a meeting at 11am on Monday. After the meeting, Comrade Shah Alam, Secretary General of Communist Party of Bangladesh (CPB), said that the government has decided to increase the gas price, which is irrational. The strike will be observed from 6AM to 2PM on July 7. According to the new tariff, households using a single burner will pay Tk 925 instead of Tk 750 a month. Those using a double burner will pay Tk 975 in place of Tk 800.
