

Thousands mourn as mortal remains of Babysana cremated

IT News
Imphal, July 31,

As the mortal remains of Babysana was cremated today at Haraorou, thousands shed their tears for the departed soul who died mysteriously at her hostel.

After prolonged movement the family members and JAC formed against the mysterious death of Babysana finally accepted the death body to perform the last rites. The JAC along with the family members took the dead body of Babysana who has been lying in JNIMS mortuary today.

A procession with many followers was also held starting from JNIMS passing through Ayangpali, Kongba, Canchipur road and to the hostel of Standard Robarth where she was found dead in suspicious manner, and offered floral tributes.

Unable to control his emotion, Babysana's father crossing his limits tried to barge the gate of the hostel with the Alto car he drive. However, police personnel who were present there stopped the vehicle and calmed him down.

Despite the efforts to control the people, angry mob threw stones towards the school. The people further tried to storm the hostel but was stopped and halted by the police forces.

After much confrontation with the police only the family members were finally allowed to go inside the campus of the hostel to pay tributes to Babysana.

Further the procession continued and went back to her locality at Thangmeiband. Floral tributes were paid to the departed soul of Babysana at Thangmeiband THAU ground.

After paying floral tributes at Thangmeiband the lifeless body of Babysana was brought to Haraorou where her last rite was being performed. 'Justice for Babysana' and 'punish the murderer' fills the air of the valley today.

As the procession of the Babysana passed along the road, hundreds of students and people came out forming a human chain on the road paying floral tributes to Babysana.

Police forces were stationed at various places keeping a strict vigil not to let any untoward incident.

N. Babysana who was a student of Standard Robarth Higher Secondary School was found hanging at the dormitory for her hostel on July 18. The mysterious death of Babysana has made a hue and cry which even called a 24 hour state wide bandh by the JAC demanding to hand over the case to CBI and to conduct re-post-mortem.

Various protest has been staged in the past few days demanding justice to Babysana and speedy investigation.

However the JAC still assured to continue the movement until an unless the mysterious death of Babysana was given justice even though her body was taken finally

She said that they will now go to the court the tell the judge to kill them all as they will face natural death. On the other hand, a protestor said that banning of sand mining is nothing but blocking of development. He said without sand and stone how could development be brought. He further said that before the mining of sand and stone are stopped it is better the government department like Public Works department should be abolished as without sand and stone no constructions can be taken place.

In Khangabok, paddy field gets water after cleaning Canal and drains by MLA Surjakumar

IT News
Thoubal, July 31,

Idle mind is devils' workshop, the saying seems true but when the mind is utilized properly and judiciously, it does bring joys not only to him or her but to other hundred and thousands of people.

Young and energetic MLA Okram Surjakumar, a representative from Khangabok Assembly constituency, besides being an opposition MLA (Congress), instead of instigating the farmers to criticize the present government over its failure to provide water in the field, utilized his wisdom and led the people in cleaning the suffocated canal and drains in the area and drained the water logged at Nunghou Dam constructed across Wanging River at Sangaiyupham area towards the thirsty paddy field located at the periphery of Khangabok Part III and Sangaiyupham area.

There are around 2500 pari of paddy field in the periphery of Khangabok Part-III and Sangaiyupham area. Inadequate rainfall dried the paddy field even though there are water in the river. The water in the River remain logged at Nunghou Dam as the "Thambal Angangbi canal", an important water way towards the field, remain piled up with wastage blocking the way. Not only the canal, but other drains which usually were constructed to carry the water too were failed due to negligence from the part of the government.

Having understood the MLA Okram Surjakumar cleaned the canal and the drain using his own resources since a couple of days. Sooner the canal were clean water immediately flow towards the paddy fields and at least 1000 pari of field now have enough water to start cultivation.

If the river water continue to flow in the said canal for another 10 days, the farmers of the area will no longer worried even though there is not enough rain water.
