

Biggest challenge was to safeguard evidence, says J&K IG Ahfadul Mujtaba

Agency New Delhi June 11,

Ahfadul Mujtaba, the inspector general of Jammu and Kashmir's police crime branch, oversaw the investigation into the January 2018 rape and murder of an eight-year-old girl in Kathua. He spoke to

Mir Ehsan about the challenges they faced while investigating the case that was handed over to them amid protests in Kathua against the arrest of her mother and later, registered a police complaint. How difficult was the case for you to handle? It was a very difficult case as there was some destruction of the evidence. The other obstacle was that people started taking to the streets... we did not react to the protestors. Our entire focus was on the collection of evidence... we had to go to the high court and then the Supreme Court as there were various issues and petitions regarding this case... [We feel] vindicated. Six persons have been convicted and one has been acquitted in the case...we will examine that [acquittal] and if the need arises, then we will also go for an appeal. What were the main challenges you faced? Every case is difficult. In such a case, the collection of evidence is always a very difficult job. At one point 45 lawyers represented the accused. Did that put you under pressure? Not at all. Our public prosecutor, Santok Singh Basra, is one of the most competent lawyers I have known. He handled the case very professionally. What would you credit the cracking of this case to? The credit will go to the [crime branch] team members, who investigated the case meticulously. It has been proved how good they are. In this case, we had four prosecutors — Santok Singh Basra, Mr Chopra, Bhupinder Singh and Harminder Singh. We did our job without any fear and favour. Every member of our team deserves appreciation.

Rape cases on a high in UP even as CM Yogi holds meets on crime against children, women

Agency New Delhi June 11,

Around the same time when Uttar Pradesh Chief Minister Yogi Adityanath was holding high level meeting in Lucknow on Monday evening to discuss means to stop crime against child and women in the state, a cleric was arrested in Meerut for raping a 12-year-old girl in a madrasa.

The accused cleric, Shahid was beaten up by the people in Sarunpur area after the alleged incident but he managed to escape. Shahid was later arrested when he was waiting to board a bus on the Meerut-Kamal highway. A case has been registered against the accused under the Protection of Children from Sexual Offences (POCSO) Act, the officer added. In another incident, in Kanpur, a 15-year-old girl was raped by a madrasa teacher on Sunday evening. The accused, identified as 35-year-old Javed, raped the girl in a room located on the premises of madrasa. The accused had visited the girl's house and asked her mother to send her daughter with him to madrasa for filling up a blank form. On reaching the madrasa, the accused took her to a room and raped her. The girl, somehow, escaped and reached home. She narrated her ordeal to her mother and later, registered a police complaint. After a massive hunt, the police managed to nab the accused who was trying to flee. In another incident, a minor girl was allegedly gang raped by six men in Kushinagar district on June 9. The six accused have been arrested and a case has been registered against them. In a fourth incident surfacing from Jalau, the body of a seven-year-old girl was found in a field, with her 'salwar' tied around her neck, fueling suspicion that she was raped.

The girl was missing since June 7 when she stepped out to play. A group of villagers found her body two days later and informed the family. Earlier, an 11-year-old girl was raped and murdered in Hamirpur district. The victim's naked body was found in a graveyard in the early hours of June 9.

Police have registered an FIR against unidentified accused for rape and murder. The post-mortem report confirmed sexual assault before she was strangled to death. There were injury marks on her private parts and around her neck. All the five incidents mentioned above have taken place after the Aligarh incident in which a two-and-a-half-year old girl was strangled to death and her eyes gouged out. The incident, that took place on May 30, has drawn widespread condemnation and calls for giving harshest punishment to the guilty are intensifying. Meanwhile, after Monday's meeting, Adityanath has directed four women ADGs, Renuka Kumar, Tanuja Srivastava, Neera Rawat and Anju Gupta, to monitor the crime situation in two zones each. The Chief Minister also ordered that the anti-Romeo squads be re-activated and the monthly report on the 1090 women helpline should be prepared to analyze the crime pattern.

NCW chairperson demands death penalty for Kathua gang rape-murder case convicts

Agency New Delhi June 11,

NCW chairperson Rekha Sharma Monday demanded capital punishment for the six convicts in the sensational Kathua gang rape-murder case, saying the Jammu and Kashmir government should appeal in higher court. A court in Pathankot on Monday sentenced to life imprisonment the three main accused in the gang rape and murder of an 8-year-old nomadic girl in Jammu and Kashmir's Kathua, while awarding five years in jail to three others for destruction of evidence. Sharma welcomed the conviction, but said she was expecting capital punishment for the culprits. "The Jammu and Kashmir government must go for appeal in higher court," she said.

The girl was kidnapped on January 10 last year and gang raped in captivity in a small village temple in Kathua after having been kept sedated for four days. She was later bludgeoned to death. The incident led to a countrywide outcry and the trial was held on day-to-day basis at the district and sessions court in Pathankot.
