

“Sputnik V”, COVID-19 Vaccine to be available in the market from next week

By Raju Venekar
New Delhi, May 14:

The first batch of Russian COVID-19 vaccine “Sputnik V”, developed by Russia’s Gamaleya National Center Covid, has arrived and more batches will be arriving and the vaccine is likely to be available in the market by next week. Dr. VK Paul, Member-Health of Niti Aayog said on Thursday.

“Sputnik V” will be imported in the frozen form from Russia this quarter. Hyderabad-based Dr. Reddy’s Laboratories Limited (DRL), is responsible for ensuring that the vaccine remains stable and sanctity of the cold chain is maintained — from the manufacturing site in Russia to its cold chain point and eventually to all parts of India.

Dr. VK Paul said that “Sputnik V” will be produced in India from July onwards. Dr. Reddy’s Laboratories is the Indian partner of the Russian vaccine and the country is looking to produce 15.6 crore doses of the Russian COVID-19 vaccine.

Over 2bn vaccines doses to be available in India

Over 2 billion doses of vaccines against the novel coronavirus are likely to be available in India between August and December this year. They would include 750 million doses of AstraZeneca’s vaccine — “Covishield”, produced in India by the Serum Institute of India and 550 million doses of “Covaxin”, an indigenous vaccine made by Bharat Biotech.

3 vaccines approved for sale in India

As of now, three vaccines — “Covaxin”, “Covishield” and “Sputnik V” have been approved for sale in the country. The “Sputnik V” has been approved to be imported from Russia by Dr. Reddy’s Laboratories.

With an efficacy of 91.6%, “Sputnik V” was the first vaccine against coronavirus in the world. Clinical trial data published in “The Lancet” indicated that it “appears safe and efficacious”. It requires a temperature range of -18°C to -22°C to remain stable. More than 60 countries had registered “Sputnik V” for emergency use and most of these countries already received the first batch of the vaccine.

Russia has been actively marketing “Sputnik V” abroad despite the comparatively slow rollout at home and limited production capacities. Dozens of nations have approved the use of “Sputnik V”, and many signed deals with the Russian Direct Investment Fund (RDIF) that bankrolled the vaccine to get shipments of the shot. As of now, DRL’s contract with the RDIF is for 250 million doses for India. DCGI granted regulatory approval or restricted use authorization to “Sputnik V” on April 12, 2021.

The government is also expecting Zydus Cadilla’s DNA vaccine, towards the end of its phase three trial, to apply for a license soon. The single drop, single-dose nasal vaccine is also expected to add to the supply of vaccines in India by almost 100 million, Paul said.

The NITI Aayog recently said that India would examine the claim of whether a single dose of Sputnik Light can protect from the coronavirus infection.

Regarding other vaccine candidates such as Pfizer, Moderna, Johnson & Johnson, Dr. Paul said that the authorities are constantly in touch with the manufacturers and significant headway is likely to happen in the third quarter of the year.

India’s vaccination drive

Meanwhile, over 17.72 crore people have been vaccinated in the country. Although the Union Government declared all those above 18 years of age-eligible for vaccination, from May 01 onwards, some of the states like Maharashtra and significant headway is likely to happen in the third quarter of the year.

Recovered COVID-19 patients

In the meanwhile, the National Technical Advisory Group on Immunisation (NTAGI) on Thursday said that the recovered COVID-19 patients should wait for six months before getting vaccinated. In the case of individuals who have received the first dose and before completion of the dosing schedule if they test positive for COVID-19, they should wait for 4-8 weeks after clinical recovery from the illness. Also, COVID-19 patients who have been given anti-SARS-CoV-2 monoclonal antibodies or convalescent plasma may defer COVID-19 vaccination for three months from the day of discharge from the hospital.

Pregnant women Can Choose Vaccine

NTAGI also suggested that pregnant women may be offered the choice to take any COVID-19 vaccine and that lactating women can be inoculated any time after delivery. The NTAGI recommended that all pregnant women visiting for Ante Natal Care may be informed about risks and benefits associated with “Covishield” and “Covaxin”. Based on the information provided, a pregnant woman may be offered the choice to take any of the vaccines.

According to the current vaccination protocol, pregnant and lactating women should not be administered the shots as they have not been part of any anti-coronavirus vaccine clinical trial so far.

The voice of Imphal Times- COVID Vaccination: Govt. create demand without procuring adequate supply

IT Desk
Imphal, May 14:

Until May 11, Imphal Times manage to access report about the stock of Covishield vaccine at the State Vaccine Store (SVS). However, on the following day those authority in-charge of the SVS cut off every access to find out the actual number of Covishield vials in the SVS. Neither their authority have never brief the media about the present stock of Covishield vaccine for reason best known to them.

The total number of Covishield received by the State is 5,52,390 till yesterday. So when calculated number of vaccine in stock should be 98,278 doses (if in case no wastage).

Leaving aside people below 45 years, total population of people above 45 years as per 2011 census is 5,64,527. This may have increase a lot in 2021 census but as of now there are no official records.

Calculation based on 2011 census report around 1,10,415 (1 Lakh 10 thousand 4 hundred fifteen) people over 45 years are yet to be vaccinated.

So the number of vaccines required is 5,17,724 doses.

in four days i.e. from May 9 to May 12 was 25,031. This means that if the vaccination continues without a break in the same speed, only 6250 may get vaccination on an average per day.

Vaccination of Covishield began in the State since January middle week. And as per official record total number of people above 45 years vaccinated first dose is 2,96,894, and those who jabbed 2nd doses is 78,608. When calculated total number of doses used in (78,608 x 2) 1,57,218 plus 2,96,894, i.e. 4,54,112.

Imphal Times had reported that as at 9.30 am of Tuesday (May 11) total stock of Covishield vaccine at the State Vaccine Store was only 90,090 vials. These can vaccinate to around 9,00,900 people as each vial can vaccinate 10 doses.

On May 13, i.e. yesterday Covishield vaccine numbering around 40,000 doses arrived. That is around 4,000 vials of Covishield vaccine.

In addition with yesterday’s arrival, total doses of Covishield so far received by the State government is (5,12,390 + 40,000) 5,52,390 doses only.

As per official report of the health department total number of person vaccinated

This is because 2,96,894 people who already get the first doses need 2nd dose and the remaining 1,10,415 need two doses.

State govt at present has only 98,278 doses in stock.

At a time when the graph of positive covid-19 cases have been on the rise since May 2 till yesterday and the numbers of death during the period i.e. from May 2 to May 13 reaching 126. And the number of positive cases rose by 5,671 during these 11 days, vaccination of 6000 people per day is like chasing the fire and not going ahead of it.

A source said that the government is planning to start vaccinating people between 18 years to 45 years from May 17 if so will this be another trick to fool the people as the world knows that India as a whole is facing vaccine shortage.

On the other hand, name shake vaccination without revealing the truth will not help fighting the covid-19 pandemic. Creating demand without procuring adequate supply will only cause anger to the public. Fact should be put in regard of the vaccination programme at public domain instead of conducting name shake vaccination.

CRT’s ‘Positivity Unlimited’ Day 3 lecture Proceedings

IT News
Imphal, May 14:

Spiritual Guru, Shankaracharya Vijayendra Saraswati and eminent artist Sonal Mansingh gave the deliverance on 13 May 2021, the third day of ‘Hum Jitenge-Positivity Unlimited’ lecture series. In their respective lecture, they called upon the Bharatiya society to maintain confidence in itself. They said that “we should share around us more and positive thoughts as this would definitely help to win in the war against Corona”.

Pujya Shankaracharya Vijayendra Saraswati said in his address that, “today we are facing a crisis due to pandemic in the world. A year ago this problem came to Bharat. At that time this crisis was overcome by the hard work of the society, by the cooperation, by the sympathy of all. Now the same crisis has struck again but this time it is much more grave. But we should be able to overcome this crisis also. To overcome this crisis we should pray and remember what Sankat Mochak Hanuman ji said in Valmiki Ramayana. Hanuman ji says, there is sorrow, there is crisis, yet whatever is the situation, do not give up keep trying. No matter what the crisis is, if we work hard with confidence, we will get the results and we will be successful. In the last year’s crisis people speaking different languages and people from different states worked together, and the result was also very favorable. Two kinds of efforts are necessary to overcome the present challenge - One is to pray and practice virtue ... and second is to go for medical treatment to heal one self. But at the same time, patience and confidence also have an important place in the present scheme of things. If there is patience and confidence, we can come out of it, no matter what the crisis is. There is a need for personal faith, as well as to create a positive environment at the collective level”.

Eminent artist and Padmavibhushan awardee Sonal Mansingh while sharing her personal experiences in her address said that she had recently suffered from corona but she overcame it by positive thoughts, patience, self-confidence and prayer that drove away the despair. “There is a need to create an atmosphere of boundless hope and positivity in the society so that no one is despaired or disappointed. For this, we may take the support of creative pursuits and we should have a feeling of gratitude in the mind. We are all fighting this war and we will definitely get victory in it. But for this we have to make sure that we do not consider ourselves helpless, we must stay away from anger, frustration, disappointment and also share positive thoughts and support others to create an atmosphere of positivity at the collective level in the society.”

Tomorrow, on 14 May, Didi Maz Sadvhi Rithambhara Ji, Vatsalya Dham and Sant Gyan Dev Singh ji, Panchayati Akhara -Nirmal will address the nation.

What is the Difference Between an Interior Designer and an Interior Decorator

By: Vijay GarG

Many homeowners believe these two terms are synonymous, but interior designing and interior decorating are not as similar as you may believe. Though both fall into the same category, there are a few key differences that separate the two.

Interior Decorator

Interior decorators is on the decorative details of your home. They provide an artistic eye and a flare for creating design magic in your home. Since you don't need to have a degree to unleash creativity, interior decorators don't require a standardized education to provide their skills. However, most interior designers do undergo some sort of training program, just to polish their creative skills.

Special Skills

Interior decorators have an eye for beauty and aesthetics. They have the knack for choosing everything from the perfect color scheme to the most majestic wall art. Anything from choosing and arranging furniture, selecting decorating items, and arranging them artistically comes right up interior decorators' alley.

When Should You Hire an Interior Decorator?

When should you bring in an interior decorator? Well, you need to bring them in when you need to completely redo the design of your home in a totally chic and savvy way. They will take your design dreams and bring them to life. If you don't know where to start, an interior decorator will sit with you and learn more about you to create a design scheme they feel matches your personality.

Interior Designer

The path to becoming an interior designer is a little harder than an interior decorator. Interior designers need to undergo formal training and education, ranging from two to four years. In some states, interior designers also have to pass an exam and get registered.

Special Skills

Where interior decorators can accessorize your home beautifully, interior designers can do that and much more. The main focus of interior designers is space planning, and they usually work with the architects of your home to decide how best to build your home artistically.

For instance, if you are thinking of getting a floor to ceiling glass window, it will be the job of your interior designer to make sure it is installed in a way that looks elegant and posh, and that it coincides with the space of the room and the furniture and stylings you would like to conclude in the space.

Interior designers are also responsible for making decisions about functional changes you want to make in your home.

When Should You Hire an Interior Designer?

Designing a home is a tough job, and you can't always leave it up to your architect to make the right decisions in terms of style and convenience. It is close to impossible for you to stand with your architect or contractor and explain each and every detail of how you want your house to look, especially when you don't know quite what you want either. Interior designers can handle the day-to-day dealings of your home with the architects and contractors, and design your dream home from your vision.

Who Should You Hire?

Now comes the real question: Who should you hire? If you are still unsure of the type of interior design help you need, ask yourself these simple questions:

Are you thinking of adding any changes to the structure of your house? If you answered "Yes," an interior designer is the way to go.

Are you only planning to change the color scheme, decoration, or lighting of your house? If you answered "Yes," you can opt for an interior decorator to get the job done.

Is their degree or credentials important to you? If you answered "Yes," consider hiring an interior designer to help you with your design needs.

Whichever professional you choose, it's important to remember to read reviews and peruse their portfolios before scheduling an appointment with anyone. Once you find a few interior designers or decorators that seem to design in the style of your choosing, meet with each one to find the person that you feel is right for the job. You will be working with this person for months, so make sure you choose the design specialist with which you feel comfortable and the one that speaks to your design needs.

Covid-19: Grief and Loss Echoes Manipur

By: Bramhacharimayum Sadananda Sharma

Amidst Covid-19 Pandemic majority of the families are facing many significant issues not only financial problem as a result of the current situation prevailing in our state. Some people experience multiple losses during this disaster or large-scale health emergency. Because of the COVID-19 pandemic, most people are unable to be with loved one when they die, or unable to mourn someone's death in-person with friends and family. Some losses jobs become unemployed, some are unable to earn money, loss or reduction in health support services, unable to get proper health care, on one hand tension of inadequate vaccines; on the other hand contagious deadly virus spreading and claiming more lives than ever had such sudden changes in one's life will be hard for everyone to adjust. The sound of grief and loss echoes Manipur.

Hearing news of state government latest and revised SOPs, curfew, movement restriction and strict order to stay at home to cope spread of virus gave most of the families a nightmare. Just because some people resist capturing or reflecting signs of poverty doesn't mean everything is going well. There are huge setbacks inside our society in terms of financial, health infrastructures, social economic status (SES) and at time of pandemic the situation is quite unimaginable. The expanding gap between rich and poor is not only widening the gulf in incomes and wealth in our state. It is helping the rich and well connected people lead longer lives while cutting short the lives of those who are struggling. There is a wall slowly building between rich and poor, and it is aware by most of us during this hard time. This might be hard to say "We didn't notice the change".

Of course, a lot of government welfare schemes, incentives are being provided for the welfare of the public during this pandemic. But, the question is all this government schemes really mitigate the problem faced by the needy families in this present context. The problem is very real, countless families in our state sleep with one single meal. Earlier they had to work even after taking sleeping pills because they need to work to fill their stomach, now imagine their condition. And the fact that our state has less beggar doesn't mean our State is excellence in managing under privileged community compare to other State.

A scheme or programme without any systemic planning is like pouring water outside the cup where resources are spent without its effectiveness. One thing is clear that many self-serving people and agents inside our society which acts as a middle man making a huge profit out of all these welfare schemes and policy. And common people being bargain by shutting their voices with some mere supplies even during the hard time of pandemic.

Various schemes and policies launched by our government doesn't reach to targeted people due to lack of awareness and information about the schemes and policies. Yes, it will be wrong not to mention and applaud the role of various print and electronic media providing such essential information about those various schemes and subsidized foods. But the reality lies when that person who has to work from morning till night and they have no additional time to focus on such ideas and standing a long queue. Even, if they want to apply for such schemes, all those lengthy process and procedure which create another wall of problem for them.

Any State with high rate of conflicts, crime, violence, confusion, will surely go backward in term of uplifting under privileged peoples. All these issues become our breakfast and dinner. Everyone is busy analysing and putting effort to fill their belly with such issues. Of course, a lot of problem also needs to be prioritized first, but the whole idea is that in between this problem and getting solved, we are missing the voices of many under privileged people. For their side there will be no agitation or movement to protestor address to the government and concern department because in crucial hours they need dedicated organization to address their issues and grievances in a proper channel. Few Civil Society Organisations and NGOs stands and work for them but our government should also focus and address their issues for long time measures. A society become paralysed when all capable persons put their hands in pocket.

Honestly speaking, may be our under privileged communities or families might slowly give up the idea, believes and hope in our own government policies and welfare schemes in days to come if present trend continues. Life is an easy road for some but hard a race for most of the people and the hope of survivability is what gives us the courage to fight for tomorrow. They will continue to fight just for survival nor less or more. Hope our present society's capable, powerful, willingness to act and serve people help sincerely in solving some of their problem especially during this hard time of pandemic.
